ICFAI part of urge 'consume with care'

Agartala, June 5:

ICFAI University Tripura today observed World Environment Day with due importance on the lines of global urge "7 billion dream, one planet, Consume with care". It organized tree plantation and a seminar on protection of environment for the future generation. The seminar urged to protect healthy environment and natural abundance around for the human being.

The observance began with plantation of saplings by Dr. Atul Kumar Gupta, the Principal Chief Conservator of Forest and Dr. Mrinmoy Datta, the Joint Director of Indian Council for Agriculture Research. Dr. A Ranganath, the Principal of Teacher Education department and a few students from Kamalghat Higher Secondary School also planted trees.

In his key note address, later at the seminar, Dr. Atul Kumar Gupta urged upon all sections of society to protect natural wealth all around at individual effort. He requested the young generation not to waste anything, be it food, clothe or any other item which might be required to others in whatsoever mean.

Dr. Mrinmoy Datta, who graced the seminar as Special guest, expressed serious concern over the growing forest destruction and fluctuation in weather conditions across the globe. He also urged upon the common people to save energy, natural abundance and edible items for the cause of future generation. A sizeable number of staff, Faculty and students attended the seminar.
