About the University

The ICFAI University, Tripura has been established through an act of the state legislature (Tripura State Legislature Act 8 of 2004). The University is recognized by UGC under Section 2 (f) of 1956 and the university is empowered to award degrees under section 22 of UGC Act, 1956. The University is currently offering 52 (fifty-two) programs in Management, Commerce, Engineering, Law, Teacher education, Special Education, Physical Education, English, Yoga and Library Science etc. The University strives to provide quality education with an objective to provide the students with an appropriate combination of conceptual framework and practical insight into managerial, technological, legal challenges as well as business opportunities for grooming entrepreneurial initiatives. It also provides exposure to real business problems and situations through industrial visits to different business sectors, case-studies and industrial interactions.

Detail Report of the Program

- Prof. (Dr.) A. Ranganath, Registrar, extended a warm welcome to the esteemed resource persons. He expressed gratitude for their participation and highlighted the significance of Kokborok Day in preserving and promoting the Kokborok language and culture. He acknowledged the efforts made by the community to celebrate their linguistic heritage and emphasized the importance of fostering pride in the language among the younger generation. He spoke passionately about the importance of Kokborok Day as more than just a celebration as it a profound reminder of the community's shared responsibility to safeguard and elevate their language. His words were a call to action, urging the audience to recognize the language as a living legacy that connects generations past, present and future.

- Dr. Naphurai Jamatia, a prominent Litterateur, Social Activist, Composer from Tripura, delivered an enlightening speech on the origin and history of the Kokborok Language. His presentation captivated the audience, offering a comprehensive understanding of the linguistic and cultural significance of Kokborok. He began by tracing the roots of Kokborok, explaining its evolution as one of the oldest and most significant languages of the indigenous Tripuri people. He elaborated on its connection to the Tibeto-Burman language family, highlighting its distinct phonetic, grammatical, and structural features. He very vividly discussed about the rich cultural heritage and traditions of the Tripuri people of Northeast India. He defined Kokborok Literature encompasses a wide range of oral traditions, including folktales, songs, and proverbs, alongside modern poetry, prose, and drama. He tried to promote and preserve the language; Kokborok literature has gained recognition for its unique voice and contribution to Indian literature. He urged the younger generation to take pride in their linguistic heritage and actively contribute to the promotion and development of Kokborok. His insightful address not only deepened the audience's appreciation for the language but also inspired them to work toward its preservation and growth.

- Ruhi Chandra Debbarma, a prominent Kokborok Dramatist, Director and Writer from Tripura, delivered an engaging and informative speech on the culture and heritage of the tribal people, emphasizing the vital role of the Kokborok language in preserving their identity. He began by providing an overview of the rich and diverse cultural traditions of the tribal people, emphasizing the vital role of the Kokborok language in preserving their identity. He provided an overview of the rich and diverse cultural traditions of the tribal communities of Tripura. He highlighted the importance of customs, rituals, and festivals that have been passed down through generations, reflecting the community's deep connection to nature, spirituality, and unity. He defined Kokborok Literature as the essence of Tripuri life, portraying themes of nature, love, spirituality, and the struggles of indigenous existence. He said Modern Kokborok literature has expanded to include poetry, short stories, novels, and plays, gaining momentum through the efforts of writers, scholars, and cultural enthusiasts. The language's inclusion in formal education and literary platforms has further revitalized its creative expression, fostering a growing appreciation for its depth and relevance in contemporary literature. He emphasized the responsibility of the younger generation to take pride in their roots and contribute to the revival and promotion of Kokborok. He stressed that the language is not just a means of communication but a symbol of unity, identity, and cultural pride for the tribal people.

- Dr. Pritilata Debbarma, Founding Faculty of Tripura University, warmly welcomed the esteemed Resource Persons, expressing his gratitude for their presence. In his welcoming speech, he emphasized the significance of Kokborok Day in preserving and promoting the language and its associated traditions. He further conveyed his happiness at being part of the celebration, reflecting the collective pride in commemorating the day dedicated to Kokborok. The event set a vibrant tone for further discussions and cultural presentations, creating a memorable experience for all participants. His words reflected the collective determination to preserve and promote the Kokborok language, which serves as the soul of indigenous identity. He expressed his deep honour to be part of such a monumental celebration. He described the day as a festival of culture, history and linguistic pride, resonating with the collective dreams and aspirations of the community. His address not only set the tone for the day's proceedings but also inspired a sense of renewed commitment to the language and its cultural essence.

- Ms. Suprachita Debbarma, Research Scholar, shared her insightful views on the significance of Kokborok Literature. She emphasized how Kokborok literature serves as a valuable tool in preserving the rich heritage, traditions, and cultural identity of the community. Her eloquence and passion created an atmosphere of Unity and Pride, encouraging every attendee to not just celebrate Kokborok Day but to actively cherish, promote and preserve its essence for generations to come.

- Prof. (Dr.) Dhananjoy Datta, Dean, Centre for Doctoral Programs, concluded the event on a graceful note with a heartfelt vote of thanks. In his closing remarks, he expressed sincere gratitude to all the resource persons, participants, and organizers for their invaluable contributions to the event. He acknowledged the tireless work and dedication of everyone involved, emphasizing how their contributions were instrumental in creating an atmosphere of inspiration and camaraderie. He officially concluded the event, leaving the audience motivated and deeply connected to their roots.
