

Dr. Sujoy Hazari is currently serving as the Controller of Examinations at The ICFAI University, Tripura, and also holds the responsibility of Nodal Officer for the Academic Bank of Credit (ABC) initiative. He has been associated with the university since 2018 as an Assistant Professor (Agricultural Economics) in the Faculty of Management & Commerce. He leads various courses in Agribusiness, Rural Management, and Economics.

Dr. Hazari holds a B.Sc. degree in Agriculture from the College of Agriculture, Tripura; an M.Sc. in Agricultural Economics from Dr. Panjabrao Deshmukh Krishi Vidyapeeth, Akola, Maharashtra; and a Ph.D. in Agricultural Economics from The ICFAI University, Tripura. His academic excellence has been recognized through several scholarships and awards.

An active researcher, Dr. Hazari serves as the Principal Investigator for multiple externally funded research projects, including those supported by SEED-DST and NABARD. His research interests include agribusiness, production economics, and the marketing of agricultural and allied sector products. He has authored two books, edited three books, and published over 40 research papers in reputed national and international journals.

Dr. Hazari has made significant contributions to academic development by organizing training programs, workshops, seminars, and field surveys. He has actively participated in various important academic and research-oriented workshops and seminars, covering diverse themes such as the Academic Bank of Credit, Rice Fortification, Rural Development Project Management, Forecasting in Agriculture, and Agriculture – Issues and Policy etc.

Dr. Hazari continues to contribute to the academic and administrative excellence of the university through his dynamic leadership and strong commitment to education and research.