KEY WORDS: scholar, Islam, education, north, Nigeria.

1.0 INTRODUCTION

'Islamic education' is a combination of two separate words 'Islam' and 'education'

The word 'Islam' was derived from Arabic word 's l m' or 'salaam' which means safe or peace. Religiously Islam means total submission to God (ALLAH) Islam can also be seen as a monotheistic religion that was revealed to prophet Muhammad [p.b.u.h] by God through angel Gabriel and many times before to prophets including Noah, Abraham, Moses, Ismael, Jesus among others.Wikitionary (2012)

Education is the process of imparting knowledge or skills. It can also be define as the process of helping an individual to become functional member in the society through training either formally or informally.

Islamic Education can be seen as a systematic way of nurturing an individual spiritually, economically and socially.

Kazeem and Bologun (2013) define Islamic Education as divinely revealed knowledge and thus prepares individual to be upright citizen on earth and to ultimately attain happiness in the life after death.

The sources of Islamic education are the Muslims' holy book 'Al-Qur'an' and   its interpretation, the Hadith (saying, practice and silent approval of Prophet Muhammad [p.b.u.h]).

Islam came to Nigeria through Northern Nigeria as a result of its contact With Arab traders.

The development of any knowledge relied largely on the works (writing) of its scholars, Islamic education is not an exception; the Usman Bn Fodio did not only fight to propagate Islamic religion, but also preached and wrote number of books and leaflets. In the same vein, Sheikh Gumi preached and wrote volumes of books and in addition to this, sheikh Gumi also translated other Arabic texts (including the holy Qur'an) into Hausa language, the dominant and most rapidly developing language in the region and the country at large. According to Maibeni (2011),

"The development of Islamic education in Northern Nigeria could be attributed to the efforts of the early Muslim scholar. Many scholars exists in Borno thousands of years ago. The Arab traders poured into the Northern part of Nigeria as the first half of the 8th century. The kingdom of Kanem which included Borno becomes the first seat of rulers and a centre of Islamic learning. Islamic education spread into Hausa states comprising of Katsina, Kano, Daura, Zamfara, Gobir, Kebbi and Zazzau. The rulers of these areas became influenced by the Arab traders. Through contacts and teaching most of them were converted to Islam."
